MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION OF FUND PERFORMANCE

Results of Operations

The ETF's net assets increased from $12.2 million at the end of 2023, to $22.3 million as of June 30, 2024. The increase was primarily due to subscriptions.

The trailing 12-month median dividend growth of the portfolio companies was 11.4% at June 30, 2024 compared to the S&P/TSX Composite Total Return Index (the "Index") constituent median 5.2%. Over the next 12 months, our model is predicting median dividend growth of 12.4% for our portfolio companies. This compares to the median of the Index constituents of 3.4% as forecast by consensus.

The ETF underperformed the Index during the period. For the six-month period ended June 30, 2024, the ETF returned 4.3%. The Index returned 6.1% during the same period. The primary contributors to relative returns during the period were the portfolio's underweight and stock selection in Financials, the overweight and stock selection in Industrials as well as stock selection in the Consumer Discretionary sector. No exposure to Energy, stock selection in Information Technology and both the overweight and stock selection in Real Estate were amongst the primary detractors from returns.

From an absolute return perspective, Dollarama Inc., Thomson Reuters Corp. and TMX Group Ltd. were among the largest contributors during the period.

Open Text Corp., Enghouse Systems Ltd. and TELUS Corp. were among the largest detractors on an absolute basis during the period.

During the period the ETF exited an investment in Visa Inc. and initiated a new position in Broadcom Inc. The change was made primarily due to our view that there is more upside in Broadcom from a valuation perspective for similar levels of dividend growth as Visa and that Broadcom represents a scarcer opportunity relative to the Canadian landscape which has a dearth of opportunities to the AI theme. We also exited our investment in Canadian Pacific Kansas City Ltd. due to a lack of dividend growth. Existing positions in TELUS Corp., Premium Brands Holdings Corp., Open Text Corp., FirstService Corp., Intact Financial Corp., Canadian National Railway Co., Colliers International Group Inc., Zoetis Inc. and InterRent Real Estate Investment Trust were increased. Positions in Dollarama Inc., Stella-Jones Inc. and Thomson Reuters Corp. were decreased. These transactions occurred as part of our regular quarterly rebalancing process and, as a result, a couple of positions were both added to and trimmed during the period.

Recent Developments

The Bank of Canada was the first central bank in the G7 to cut rates in an attempt to stimulate growth in a sluggish economy as domestic consumers continue to struggle particularly on concerns with higher interest rates and debt levels.

In a highly cyclical and concentrated market like Canada, it is important that we continue to focus on following our investment process and the fundamentals of the company's held in our portfolio. That focus will ensure our investors will benefit from a collection of resilient, high-quality businesses that are growing their dividends at high rates - regardless of what the macroeconomic environment may bring.

Despite a challenging environment, we view the long-term results of the strategy relative to the S&P/TSX Composite Total Return Index as validation that our approach can outperform the market over the long-term.

Bristol Gate is also registered with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission as an investment adviser under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940. Bristol Gate is the Manager, Trustee and Portfolio Manager of the ETF. Bristol Gate is responsible for the ETF's day-to-day operations and provides investment advice and portfolio management services to the ETF. Management Fees

The ETF pays a management fee, plus applicable taxes, to the Manager based on the annual rate of 0.70%, before GST/HST, of the net asset value of the ETF. This management fee is calculated and accrued daily and payable on the last Valuation Date of each month or on such date as the Manager may determine.

1. This information is as of the end of the period shown.
2. The management expense ratio (“MER”) is based on expenses for the stated period, excluding commissions and other portfolio transaction costs, and is expressed as an annualized percentage of the daily average net asset value during the period. The Manager may, at its discretion and without notice to unitholders, waive or absorb certain operating expenses. MER includes the waiver or absorption of certain operating expenses by the Manager, while the MER before absorption shows the MER prior to operating expenses being waived or absorbed by the Manager.
3. The ETF’s portfolio turnover rate indicates how actively the ETF’s Portfolio Manager manages its portfolio investments. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the ETF buying and selling all the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the year. The higher the ETF’s portfolio turnover rate in a year, the greater the trading costs payable by the ETF in the year, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the year. There is not necessarily a relationship between a high turnover rate and the performance of the ETF.
4. The trading expense ratio represents total commissions and other portfolio transaction costs expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the period.

DISCLOSURES

The S&P/TSX Composite Total Return Index measures the performance of the broad Canadian equity market, including dividend re-investment, in Canadian dollars. This index is provided for information only and comparisons to the index have limitations. The benchmark is an appropriate standard against which the performance of the ETF can be measured over longer time periods as it represents the primary investment universe from which Bristol Gate selects securities. However, Bristol Gate’s portfolio construction process differs materially from that of the benchmark and the securities selected for inclusion in the ETF are not influenced by the composition of the benchmark. For example, the ETF is a concentrated portfolio of approximately equally weighted dividend-paying equity securities, rebalanced quarterly whereas the benchmark is a broad stock index (including both dividend and non-dividend paying equities) that is market capitalization weighted. As such, ETF performance deviations relative to the benchmark may be significant, particularly over shorter time periods. The ETF has concentrated investments in a limited number of companies; as a result, a change in one security’s value may have a more significant effect on the ETF’s value.
